Lora Davis named CEO of Regional Rehabilitation Hospital

PHENIX CITY, Ala., July 12, 2018 - Lora Davis has been named chief executive officer of Regional Rehabilitation Hospital, a joint venture between Piedmont and Encompass Health. She assumes the position on July 16.

As CEO, Davis will oversee all of the day-to-day operations as well as patient care and quality at the 58-bed inpatient rehabilitation hospital. She brings more than 20 years' healthcare leadership experience in long term acute care and non-profit acute care settings to the role.

"Lora has shown a strong performance as a healthcare leader throughout her career, which is a great asset to our employees and the patients we care for at Regional Rehabilitation Hospital," said Terry Brown, regional vice president for the southeast region of Encompass Health. "In addition, she is committed to providing high-quality care and helping patients return to their communities at their most optimal levels of independence."

Davis holds a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in business administration from Georgia College and State University. In addition, she is a Fellow in the American College of Healthcare Executives.
